

Number Manager Conferencing

Number Manager now has the ability for users to easily create and manage audio conferencing services.

Audio Conferencing can be set up on any number type, including international numbering, and allows users to assign multiple numbers to the same conference service, thus providing local access for all participants involved on the call, whether they be based in the UK or overseas.

1

Bespoke Welcome Messages

Messages can be uploaded giving personalised introductions and to ensure the service accommodates any branding requirements.

2

Conference Call Recording

All conferences can be recorded, and as with all our other Number Manager services these recordings can be stored online, emailed to desired recipients or sent directly to any FTP server.

Security

In terms of conference security, an access PIN is generated by the system to ensure users do not join another conference call accidentally. If additional security is required it is possible to add in a second level entry system by also generating a conference ID.

Host Controls

Conference Hosts have the ability to generate a separate PIN for themselves in order to ensure the conference does not begin without their attendance. This is particularly useful when a conference call is involving clients and third party's, helping to ensure the host has full control of the meeting and discussion points.

5

Name Recording

Participants in the conference calls can record their names to be announced as they join the call so the host can easily track attendance.

Why use conferencing?

With significant flexibility and ease of use Number Manager Audio Conferencing is a great tool for all resellers and their customers. This addition to the already successful Number Manager portal provides increased functionality and new revenue opportunities.

1

Reduce Costs and Travel.

Whether it be an internal or customer meeting, conferencing can bring people together without the cost of travel and accommodation. With more and more businesses promoting flexible working conferences are becoming even more popular meeting options.

2

Increased Productivity.

Not only can travel to meetings be expensive but it also takes time. Conferencing offers a far more efficient way to manage your diary meaning you can fit more into your day.

3

Improve Carbon Footprint.

Conferencing eliminates the need to travel which contributes to helping your business reduce its carbon footprint.

4

Global Access

Join the conference using geographic and freephone numbers available in over 50 countries.

5

New Revenue Opportunities.

Conferencing offers resellers a great new addition to Number Manager. Whether offering an on-demand conferencing service or a flexible conferencing solution to customers it offers a new revenue opportunity for all resellers.
